

Learn about National History Day in Pennsylvania!

Where: State Library of Pennsylvania
Forum Building Room 321
Harrisburg, PA 17120

When: August 10, 12-1 pm

For many years the State Library of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania State Archives have been proud to support National History Day in Pennsylvania. These state agencies have long supported National History Day by providing library and archival resources for students' research and judges to evaluate their projects. The National History Day Program challenges middle and high school students to better understand and interpret the past, while helping to prepare them for leadership roles in the future. On August 10, from 12:00 -1:00 PM, the State Library will hold a Lunch and Learn session about National History Day, featuring Vanessa Abraham and Megan Mwaura, two middle school students who won the top prizes in their categories in Pennsylvania this year. Librarians Kathy Hale and Iren Snavelly will also be on hand to talk about the National History Day Competition, what judges look for, and how the collections and staff of the State Library has contributed to the process.
